Ms. Nakajima is greeting Mr. Lopez at the Tokyo Airport and helping him with preparations for his presentation at an international literature society.

Ms. Nakajima (以下 N) : Good morning Mr. Lopez, I'm Takako Nakajima from the Japan Literature Society. Welcome to Tokyo.

Mr. Lopez (以下 L) : Thank you for meeting me.

N : You're welcome. How was your flight?

L : It was not too bad, but I'm a bit tired. It took about 17 hours from Atlanta to Tokyo, with a transfer stop in Los Angeles.

N : Oh, that was a long flight. Is this your first visit to Japan?

L : Actually, I was here about 20 years ago.

N : Well, I think you'll find a lot has changed. Can I help you with your luggage?

L : Thanks, but I've already had my bags sent to my hotel.

N : I see. That was a good idea. Well then, can I help you with anything for your presentation at the meeting tomorrow?

L : Well, I'd like to make sure I can connect my computer to your equipment for my video presentation. And I wonder if you could make some copies for me.

N : OK, sure, I'll help you with those things tomorrow. Are you hungry now? I'd be happy to take you to a restaurant for something to eat.

L : Thanks, but I think I'd better go straight to my hotel and get some rest.

N : Of course, I understand. OK then, I'll call a taxi and take you there.

L : Thanks very much. About how long do you think it will take?

N : Probably about an hour, unless there's a lot of traffic. But I don't expect much today.
